Head Teachers can now choose to purchase added value school health support by selecting from a range of extended services provided by our teams of trusted NHS professionals.

Supplementary services are currently available in Children's Services. These services are specifically targeted at schools' needs and demands which lie beyond the scope of local authority and clinical commissioning group – commissioned 'core' services.

These services enable schools to offer pupils, parents and school staff the clinical support they need to address the broader health-related challenges they face today.

What services can you provide?

We can offer support and training / education to your staff in the following area for children from 0-19 in Speech & Language Therapy, Physiotherapy, Occupational Therapy, School Nursing & Dental Services.

Do these services replace those commissioned by the local authority?

No, the centrally-commissioned ('core') services are still provided. Our Traded Services offer added value support to schools seeking a service over and above the core offer. We will provide bespoke support aligned to schools' individual health challenges, including whole school support as well as input for children and young people who can benefit from services but who do not meet current service thresholds.

Who provides the Traded Services and when will they be provided?

Our Traded Services are provided by our own qualified, registered NHS clinical professionals, usually a named therapist supported by our extensive NHS resources. Services provided are available during term time and within the school day (or other times by agreement). We will work with you to help identify your school's needs and agree a plan with you to address them.

How will Shropshire Community Healthcare NHS Trust provide extra services without affecting core services?

Shropshire Community Healthcare NHS Trust is investing in staff and resources to meet schools' demands for added value services whilst ensuring core services are maintained. In this way our traded services will build upon core services to satisfy the supplementary needs of schools, pupils, their families and school staff.

How much do Traded Services cost?

Charges vary according to the type of service and the amount of time required from our therapy teams. Once we understand your specific requirements we will provide a quotation for you to consider.

Additional costs

Training for groups of more than 15 delegates may incur additional costs. We'll arrange a date for your training session with you – if you need to change the date, a cancellation fee may be charged.
